

AEON GEOSCIENCE INC.

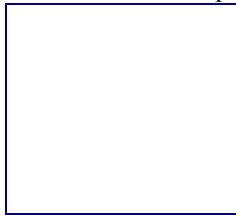

NEWSLETTER

Issue #1-02

2002

Some Information About This Newsletter

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages. Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points.

Search for graphics that will catch the readers eye and create paragraphs that will hold them there. Use the format painter to highlight text styles and copy them to other paragraphs. Highlight the text style you want to copy, choose the Format Painter button on the toolbar, 'paint' the text you want to change.

Developed by KMT Software, Inc.

The Office In Color add-ins and color templates were developed by KMT Software, Inc. KMT Software is the world's leading provider of application content for the leading Office packages. We can provide your organization with expert template, graphic and color expertise. Call on us for your specific project – large or small.

If you have an idea for a template or a recommendation for one of our current templates, please contact us. We are always interested in your ideas and comment.

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages. Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points.

Search for graphics that will catch the readers eye and create paragraphs that will hold them there. If you have an idea for a template or a recommendation for one of our current templates, please contact us. We are always interested in your ideas and comment. This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages. Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points. This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages. Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points.

In This Issue

- Editing the Masthead
- Newsletter Information
- Highlights and Headlines
- Bullets and Numbering

Developed by KMT Software, Inc.

leading Office packages. We can provide your organization with expert template, graphic and color expertise. Call on us for your specific project – large or small.

You can reach us from our web site at www.kmt.com. In the United States, call us at 1-800-KMT-CALC or 568-2252. This is not a technical support line.

If you have an idea for a template or a recommendation for one of our current templates, please contact us. We are always interested in your ideas and comments. This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages.

Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points. Search for graphics that will catch the readers eye and create paragraphs that will hold them there. Use the format painter to highlight text styles and copy them to other paragraphs.

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages.

The Office In Color add-ins and color templates were developed by KMT Software, Inc. KMT

Search for graphics that will catch the readers eye and create paragraphs that will hold them there. Use the format painter to highlight text styles and copy them to other paragraphs. Highlight the text style you want to copy, choose the Format Painter button on the toolbar, 'paint' the text you want to change.

Headline Text or Story Heading

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages.

Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points.

Headline Text

The Office In Color add-ins and color templates were developed by KMT Software, Inc. KMT Software is the world's leading provider of application content for the leading Office packages. We can provide your organization with expert template, graphic and color expertise. Call on us for your specific project – large or small. If you have an idea for a template or a recommendation

Software is the world's leading provider of application content for the

for one of our current templates, please contact us. We are always interested in your ideas and comments.

Heading Text

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages.

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages.

Heading Text

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages.

Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points.

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages.

Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points.

Search for graphics that will catch the readers eye and create paragraphs that will hold them there. Use the format painter to highlight text styles and copy them to other paragraphs.

Heading Text

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can pages.

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages. Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points. This newsletter template is begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages.

Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points. Search for graphics that will catch the readers eye and create paragraphs that will hold them there.

Developed by KMT Software, Inc.

The Office In Color add-ins and color templates were developed by KMT Software, Inc. KMT Software is the world's leading provider of application content for the leading Office packages. We can provide your organization with expert template, graphic and color expertise. Call on us for your specific project – large or small.

You can reach us from our web site at www.kmt.com. In the United States, call us at 1-800-KMT-CALC or 568-2252. This is not a technical support line.

If you have an idea for a template or a recommendation for one of our current templates, please contact us. We are always designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages.

interested in your ideas and comments.

Heading Text

This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages. This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative pages.

Use bullets and numbering to highlight issues and strong points. This newsletter template is designed so that there are multiple columns of text on each page. To replace the text with your own, highlight and delete. Then you can begin to create your own newsletter. Remember to play with formatting of text and pictures to create unique and informative

Editing the Masthead of Your Newsletter

Create the title of your company newsletter with special colors, logos, or maybe a new mascot. Here is your chance to make an impression.

Use different fonts and characters to type an attention-getting subtitle Create the title of your company newsletter with special colors, logos, or maybe a new mascot. Here is your chance to make an impression.

Use different fonts and characters to type an attention-getting subtitle

Create the title of your company newsletter with special colors, logos, or maybe a new mascot. Here is your chance to make an impression.

Use different fonts and characters to type an attention-getting subtitle

Create the title of your company newsletter with special colors, logos, or maybe a new mascot. Here is your chance to make an impression.

Your Company Name
Address
City, ST 01234-0000

RECIPIENT NAME
RECIPIENT ADDRESS
CITY, ST 01234-0000