

Brownie Troop 2896 Notes

March 20, 2006

We mostly talked about encampment today—which we will probably continue to do for the next two meetings as well.

Busy weekend coming up—the Brownie square dance is this Friday night, our last cookie booth sale will be this Saturday, and then we have “Hip Hop Anansi” on Sunday afternoon! Please check the attached headcount sheet to make sure I have your attendance at various activities recorded correctly.

For the Brownie square dance, please remember to send an appetizer or dessert item to share, plus $3/person. The dance is at 7:00 at the Moose Lodge in Lorton.

We’re at the very end of the cookie sales season, so if you want to stock up, let Kathie Stockman know now, before she makes a last trip to the cookie depot. Once we’re done with cookies, it will be time to sell magazine subscriptions.... More on that later, but it’s not a door to door thing—you might just want to put aside any renewal notices you get over the next few weeks, and then renew your subscriptions through the Girl Scout program.

For Hip Hop Anansi, you should allow about an hour to get to the theatre; our tickets will be waiting for us at the door. The show is at 3:30pm. Best thing to do on directions is to go to Mapquest and get directions to 4908 Auburn Ave, in Bethesda, 20814. There is a question/answer period after the show; I think it will all be over by 6:00pm at the latest—probably closer to 5:30pm. After the show, I am taking Paige to the Hard Times Café (pretty much right behind the theatre) for dinner; anyone who wants to join us is welcome, but it’s not an official troop activity.

Next meeting: April 3
