

Brownie Troop 2896 Notes

April 3, 2006

Time to get ready for camping! We spent most of this and the last meeting getting ready for encampment, which will be held on April 22-23. They have now earned their “Ready, Set, Go Camping” try-it.

Today the girls are bringing home their camping readiness booklets. They can continue to color them or otherwise work on them at home if they want; they do not need to bring them back to a meeting, or to encampment.

There is a packing list in that booklet; you should refer to that when they are getting ready to pack for camp. They are supposed to pack their own bags!

I do need to pay for encampment this week; we are using cookie money to pay for the girls and the adults. I have 12 girls, 11 parents, and 2 teenagers coming to camp; if anyone has changed their mind, please let me know right away. Plan on being gone all day Saturday (we should get there around 9am), and returning by noon on Sunday.
