

Brownie Troop 2896 Notes

November 15, 2006

We spent today getting ready for the holidays!

Next week the Lorton Community Action Center will be distributing their Thanksgiving baskets. We colored a few "Happy Thanksgiving" sheets for them to distribute to those recipients who do not have young children in their families.

Next month we will probably go caroling at Greenspring again (most likely on December 13 or December 20). So that we would have something to hand out to the residents, we also colored a whole bunch of "Enjoy the Holidays" and "Enjoy the Winter" sheets. Whatever we do not use at Greenspring will be sent to an organization that distributes the drawings to senior centers and other similar organizations throughout the country (see www.colorasmile.org).

The girls are looking forward to the calendar sales booth this weekend. Any calendar orders need to be handed in to Julie B. by that time; we will fill them at the sale. As we did last year, girls will need to sell three calendars or work at the booth to get a calendar sales patch. We will use the proceeds to see Junie B. Jones and a Little Monkey Business at the Imagination Stage!

At the next meeting, we are going to do some activities related to Charlotte's Web. Please try to have the book completed by then! The movie is being released on December 20. We talked about seeing it as a troop, but since the holidays are so busy we will probably wait until January to see it.

Next meeting: November 29 (WEDNESDAY)
