CLARKSBURG, MD, MARCH 22, 2007: Clarksburg Sports Association, Inc., a youth sports organization serving the greater Clarksburg area, has named Tom Culliton as Commissioner of the CSA Football program.

Tom Culliton, a 10-year coaching veteran from the highly successful St Francis program, will be the first football commissioner for the Clarksburg Sports Association, CSA President Scott Davis announced today.

his knowledge of the organization and his vision for the football program."

Steve Forsythe, CSA Football Director at Large says of today's announcement, "I am very impressed with Tom Culliton's record as both an outstanding coach and strong advocate of academic performance. My own personal interaction with Tom, supported by all of my conversations with the St Francis Football Program Director who has known him over the years, confirmed the view that he has the values and commitments we care about most at CSA."

"My family and I are very excited at the thought of being an active part of the CSA family," says Culliton. "It's one of the most progressive youth athletic programs in the region. The timing of my decision to consider commissioner opportunities and the opening at CSA seemed to intersect perfectly. Steve Forsythe made my introduction to CSA happen in a well-planned, well-organized manner and did an outstanding job of presenting the virtues of CSA - its people; its strong commitment to both academics and athletics; as well as the exciting, active part it plays in the community. Obviously, he succeeded. And, for that, I'm grateful."

CSA Executive Director, Kevin Hutto, commented, "We could not have hoped to find a more qualified individual to lead our Football program."

The CSA football program will debut this fall 2007.
