

Boy Scout Troop 137

Warrington, PA

www.BSTroop137.com

Boy Scouts is a program that takes a fun approach to teaching leadership and outdoor skills.

Those skills are then practiced through activities that involve community service, personal development and camping trips. Scouts follow their hand book to advance in rank as they gain knowledge and skills on their way to Eagle Scout. By earning the Eagle Scout rank, boys ensure that on college or employment applications they will be seen as someone that can be counted on as trustworthy and capable. No other activity that boys can pursue can give them the impact on people that the title "Eagle Scout" can give.

Troop 137 meets on the 1st, 3rd, and 4th Thursdays of each month in the Rectory basement. Once a month the troop goes on a camping outing that combines education and adventure.
